I intended an Ode,
 But I've turned out a Lyric:—
All majestic in mode
I intended an Ode,
In a metre that flowed
 (And a trifle satiric) ;
I intended an Ode,
 But I've turned out a Lyric.

It was June at the time,
 And now it's September:—
I had found the first rhyme
(It was June at the time),
But — July at its prime! —
 Well — you just don't remember;
It was June at the time,
 And now it's September.

It's the Editor's Curse,
 And nobody reads it:—
For better, for worse,
Here's the Editor's Curse,
And at least it's in Verse
 (It's Convention that breeds it) ;
It's the Editor's Curse,
 And nobody reads it.

ENVOI

Prince, once get in this mood
 You can go on ever:—
But don't rave, don't be rude
If we're still in this mood,
Here's the last of the brood
 (And it's not very clever),
Though, once get in this mood
 You can go on for ever.

SCHOOL NOTES

For many years these Notes have begun with figures showing an enrolment increased over the previous year. However, this time the combination of an unavoidable increase in fees, together with intensive competition, caused a temporary reversal which already, at this time of writing, is being overcome, and the numbers are moving up again.

The big event of the past year has been the building of the Barker Library. This was opened officially on June 4th. by Dr. English (the wording of the commemoration bronze plaque will be found in the Library Notes). Provision has been made for twenty-four study carrels wherein sixth-formers may work unsupervised and hence learn to bridge the gap between the close supervision of School and the complete freedom of College. This magnificent gift by Mr. and Mrs. Barker will give the greatest satisfaction to those many Old Boys who were at School with one or other of the five brothers, and will undoubtedly prove of inestimable value to many generations yet to come. Already it is in use at every spare moment, and there is never a break of free time when the Library is empty. We need, of course, many more books for its shelves. These will hold eight thousand volumes, and the Architects have made provision for possible future extension. Please remember this, and help whenever feasible.

With fourteen of last year's 1st. XV graduating and the fifteenth remaining in Alberta, the outlook for Rugger seemed bleak indeed and the loss of the opening games not unexpected, but we won both our games at St. George's and the return match with Shawnigan, which was a considerable triumph both for the Team, led by Colin Dykes, and its Coach, Mr. Osborn. A similar situation faced most of the other group activities — Tennis being a notable exception — and the results achieved, therefore, were far better than we had any right to expect. Much of the credit for this must go to Mr. Arscott, who, to our regret, has returned to England to be married and to teach in his native Dorset. We wish him and his bride every happiness and success.

The Matriculation results were again very good indeed. All fifteen Winslow House candidates were successful, and twenty-three out of a possible twenty-eight complete certificates were obtained, with a satisfactory number of high performances registered in individual papers.

Other events of the school year are recorded elsewhere in the magazine. Sufficient be it here to observe that the customary activities, the School dances, the special services in the School Chapel, the Christmas Dinner, the skiing trips, etc., were all maintained to the great satisfaction of those concerned, and that the School was honoured by many distinguished visitors, some of whom — such as Professors from the University of Victoria — gave most interesting evening talks in the Assembly Hall on the subjects in their particular fields, such as "Problems of Central America" and "Astronomy," to name but two.

Our closeness to the University is proving an ever-increasing asset to the School.

Finally, it has been a building year wherein we started with apparently little and achieved much.

SPEECH DAY

A large number of Parents, Old Boys and friends of the School gathered in the Gymnasium for the annual ceremonies, at which the principal guests were Dr. J. F. K. English, presently B.C. Commissioner of Public Utilities, and formerly Deputy Minister and Superintendent of Education, and Mr. A. S. Barker Sr., of Vancouver. It was most appropriate that these two distinguished gentlemen should find themselves together in this academic setting, since some forty years before they had been student contemporaries at the University of Alberta, and the present circumstances undoubtedly gave pleasure to both.

The proceedings opened with the Headmaster's Report, followed by the Presentation of Awards and the Address by Dr. English, for which John Graham, as Head Prefect, proposed a vote of thanks. This was seconded by the Chairman of the Board of Governors, who referred to the great work done by Mr. Logan Mayhew in the continued expansion of our building programme. Then Mr. Barker was prevailed upon to speak, which he did, briefly and humorously, to the great delight of everyone.

The party then proceeded to the Barker Library, where Dr. English unveiled the commemoration bronze plaque and declared the building officially open.

The complete text of Dr. English's Address is as follows:

"I consider it a great honour to be asked today to present the Academic Awards, to address the students of this School and to assist in dedicating a Library made possible by our honoured guests and benefactors, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Barker. Several times in the past your Headmaster, Mr. Timmis, has invited me to attend these Exercises, but for one reason or another over the years I have found it impossible to be present. There is a number of Old Boys here today participating in your Commencement Programme, but the term Old Boy in my case has a different connotation. This is a new experience for me because my career of forty years has been in the public school system. However, I have always had considerable respect for the better Independent Schools in this Province. Some of them, including this one, have fine academic records. Independent Schools, because of their relatively small sizes and close supervision by staffs, have some advantages over those in the public system. They can probably emphasize more effectively those factors involved in character-building, such as Honour, Integrity, Courage, Sportsmanship and the like. It is also a pleasure to be here because your Headmaster and I have been friends for some years, and I respect him as a scholar and as a leader in this area of education.

I recognize that I am speaking today to different levels of students, and that many of the students here will be leaving the School at the end of term, while others, of course, will continue in September.

May I say that at one time, and within my memory, elementary schooling up to Grade 8 was sufficient for any job except one in the professions. Today graduation from a secondary school is really a mini-mun requirement, and it cannot be emphasized too strongly that all young people should remain in school as long as possible, provided that they are applying themselves to their studies. This year over six million students in Canada are enrolled in all types of schools, including the Universities. Only fifteen years ago approximately two million were in attendance in similar types of educational institutions. This is a remarkable growth in a relatively short period.

Before I commence the text of my address I would remind all students before me of two important matters. First—that you owe much to your parents for any success you may have had up to this time. They have clothed you, fed you and given you encouragement and sound advice. In many cases they have made sacrifices to enable you to attend this School. If you propose to continue your studies at the University, or at some other school, doubtless your parents will continue to encourage and to assist you. Don't ever let them down! Second—the schools, including this one, that you have attended have given you fine opportunities in terms of the teachers and facilities provided. The groundwork has already been laid for your future scholarship and success. Achievement later at the University, success in your work in after life and the habits you have formed can be traced back to our elementary and secondary schools, of which this University School is one. Scholars are not produced by some miracle at the University. Often our public and independent schools do not get the credit they deserve in this respect.

What can I say, then, to a group of students, some of whom are about to complete four years of secondary school while others are still in the early grades of this School?

It is fitting, I think, to consider at your stage, particularly in the case of the older boys, what things are most important in life. Surely the answer will always be the kind of person you will develop into as an adult and the kind of citizen you will become in the future. Probably the number one problem facing you is to choose a life's work of some kind which will give you satisfaction and happiness. I am sure everyone here today wants to be a success and to do well. No one wants to be a failure. Everyone has a potential career before him and everyone can find a niche in the social order of his community.

Having chosen your future career, what are your chances of making a real success of it? To be a success involves two things—first, a personal one, that of attaining your goal in life; second, a social one, that of helping to make the world about you a better place in which to live. A combination of these two is really true success.

There are certain keys to success and to the future which lies before you. As I refer to these, I have in mind Mr. Barker. It has been said that the greatest results in life and the greatest achievements have been attained by very simple means and by the exercising of very ordinary qualities. What are some of these keys to success? Well, the first key to success is industry, or hard work. There is no substitute for hard work, and many of the joys and satisfactions of life come directly from it. Many men of great achievement may have only average ability, yet they are persistent and they are willing to spend time in doing a job, to persevere in the face of great odds. People with less ability have to work harder, but all authorities are agreed that work, intelligently applied, is probably the most important key to success.

The second key to success is good mental and physical health. Without good health everything is difficult. While there are many examples of people in the world who have led successful lives in spite of physical handicaps, yet such difficulties may have hindered them in attaining the ultimate. Good health, of course, can be ruined — more often by overplaying than by overworking. The third key to success involves exercising judgment, or just ordinary common sense, in the things you do. A person who has a fair amount of common sense learns from his mistakes. In the affairs of the world judgment is a quality of supreme importance. Many men have good, often brilliant, ideas, but are unable to execute them because they lack judgment. And the final key to success might be called “drive” or “impulse.” This is the ability to act quickly and to make decisions promptly. To act on the impulse is quickly to size up a situation and to act immediately instead of saying, “That looks like a good idea,” and then doing nothing about it. Most successful men and women have trained themselves to make up their minds quickly and to swing into action. They have acquired the “Do-It-Now” habit.

These, then, are four simple keys or principles — work, health, judgment and drive — which will go a long way to making you successful boys and men in after life. Few men better exemplify these keys than Mr. Barker.

Finally, may I remind you that education is a life-long process. It does not end with a diploma from this School, or a certificate from the Department of Education or a University degree. It is continuous. One never actually completes one's education, but is always in the process of acquiring more. For what was learned yesterday is not entirely true today, and some of the things we know and believe today will not be valid tomorrow. No one's education is ever finished — which means that you should have an open and receptive mind and be ready to learn as you look into the future.

In conclusion, in this month of June in all schools, both public and private, all over Canada thousands of young people like yourselves will be leaving school. Some of you in the future will become Statesmen, Business Executives, Union Leaders, Master Craftsmen. Others will be Doctors, Lawyers, Engineers, Accountants, Research Scientists. Some of you will become Clergymen or Teachers, and some few will represent the Country in the world of Music, the Arts and Literature. Nobody can be quite sure at this moment who these people are going to be, or just how their careers will be shaped. We cannot with accuracy forecast success for anyone. All we know is that many of you in this room will be the successful men of tomorrow, and that you will occupy positions of trust, honour and importance in the years that lie ahead.

The future, Gentlemen, belongs to you!

In a few minutes we shall proceed to the New Library, but first let me say that we are assembled here to open the Library officially and to pay tribute to Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Barker, who have generously provided the funds for this project. The Barkers' five sons have in succession all attended this School. The Barkers have made it possible for the School to have this Library in recognition of their Alumni sons. This is a splendid and useful gift to University School, and I am sure everyone present appreciates the generosity of Mr. Barker in this regard.

When arrangements were being made for the Academic Prize-Giving and the opening of this Library, somehow or other my name appeared in the discussion since it seemed that I was a possible and appropriate person to participate in the Ceremony. I strongly suspect that it was Mr. Barker who was behind my appearance here today. Mr. Barker and I have the distinct honour of being Graduates of the University of Alberta at Edmonton. I graduated in Arts in 1923, while Mr. Barker graduated in Commerce in 1926, and later from Harvard in Business Administration. I did not know Stan Barker too well at the University, but he was widely recognized there as a good athlete and for his prowess as a runner. His five sons have also distinguished themselves in Sports. Some years after I had left the University I met Mr. Barker in a business transaction in Vancouver. I recognized then, as many people have since, that Mr. Barker was to become a sound and successful business man.

Mr. and Mrs. Barker are associated together in many activities in the Vancouver area. Mrs. Barker has been an enthusiastic helpmate. As we dedicate this Library today, let us not forget that this is in a sense a joint dedication: so we honour both Mr. and Mrs. Barker for their attitude, and for their generosity in making this Library possible.

Except for a brief period there has always been at least one member of Mr. Barker's family at this School during the past twenty-two years, and by the time the youngest son graduates in 1968 the oldest son of his eldest brother will probably be enrolled here.

Let me say, Ladies and Gentlemen, that the Barker family is a unique family, and a credit to our society and to our Province.

As far as I am concerned personally, I regard it as a distinct honour to be here today to pay tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Barker and their family and to dedicate this Library now to the part it will play in the academic programme of University School.

I now declare this Library open, and I hope that the Headmaster and Staff will see to it that it is used to the fullest possible extent."

CHAPEL OFFICIALS

C. Dykes (Warden), J. Graham (Crucifer), M. Seeger (Sacristan),
W. Fowler (Warden).

THE CHAPEL

The Chapel is central to the life of the School. Each school day begins there, and on Sundays the worship of the Author and Giver of Life and Learning is the chief activity of the day.

During the Winter term four services were held that are worthy of special mention. The Harvest Festival was held on October 10th. The Chapel was beautifully decorated for the occasion under the direction of Mrs. J. J. Timmis. On November 14th. we held the Annual Remembrance Day Service, when, as has been customary for many years, the Headmaster read Captain Harvey's letter and called the Roll of the Fallen. Memorial wreaths were presented and placed before the Altar.

On December 5th. the Archbishop of British Columbia, The Most Reverend H. E. Sexton, visited the School to administer Confirmation to a number of boys. Their names are listed at the end of these notes. They received their first Communion on the following Sunday.

Our Carol Service was held on the last Sunday of term, December 12th. The lessons were read by Masters and boys, and the singing was led by the School Choir assisted by members of the Choir of St. John's Church. It was a service very much to be remembered and well in keeping with the high standards of other years. A generous offering was received for the work of U.N.I.C.E.F.

One note of interest to Old Boys — the first wedding to be held in the Chapel was solemnized on December 30th., when Laurence Errol Devlin was joined in Holy Matrimony to Penelope Starr Tisdall.

Owing to staff changes it was not possible to hold our usual special musical service in the Spring term. The main service of the year was held on June 5th., the Annual Commencement Service. At this service the Chapel Officers for the ensuing year were installed.

During the year the School attended the Evening Service on three occasions at St. Luke's Parish Church, and thus maintained the more than fifty years' connection with this historic Church.

The Chapel Officers for the year were:

Chaplain's Warden C. A. M. Dykes
Headmaster's Warden W. S. Fowler
Verger M. L. Seeger
Sacristan J. R. Graham

The Chapel Officers Elect for the coming school year are:

Wardens M. Watkins
G. J. Strand
Verger M. A. Code
Sacristan J. G. Garrigues

The following members of the School were confirmed by the Archbishop of British Columbia on Sunday, December 5th., 1965:

Michael John Andrews	Charles Alan Rainsford
William Louis Andrews	Gordon Strand
Rodney Frederick Charles Filtness	James Michael Tunnicliffe
Byron Jeffrey Nutting	Thomas Alexander Russell
James Jefferson Nutting

RUGBY FOOTBALL

FIRST FIFTEEN

It was clear from the start that this was going to be a building year, even though there was little enough on which to start building. No one was left from the previous season's 1st. XV, and most of the players had to come from the 3rd. XV and even humbler origins. A disastrous defeat at the hands of an Old Boys' side largely composed of last year's 1st. XV was a sad reminder of this. There was, however, one compensation for the team — no one expected anything of them and any defeats would be excusable, while any victories would be pleasant surprises.

As the season advanced, so did the team. In the Christmas term they lost narrowly away to Brentwood and Shawnigan, 3-6 and 5-9 respectively, both scores being fair representations of the run of the play, and the score in the Shawnigan match being at least an improvement on the 6-29 defeat handed out to last year's side. The team's fortunes were dramatically raised when they beat St. George's fairly comfortably at home, in a game spent mostly on the visitors' line.

Hopes were high for the Easter term, but they were rudely shaken by a heavy and quite inexplicable defeat at the hands of Brentwood. Things did, however, pick up with a resounding victory at St. George's, where the team put up the best performance of the season. Characteristically they were 3-8 down at half time, but they smelled blood and scored two quick tries in as many minutes. The season was rounded off with a comfortable win over Shawnigan. Our visitors were, admittedly, jaded by "flu," but the team outplayed them in every department of the game. The side had come a long way since their hesitant and apologetic play at the season's start.

It was the policy this year to play more 1st. XV games. Victoria High School and Claremont, from the local schools, provided us with several very useful practice games, while we entertained Prince of Wales School from Vancouver. Even more valuable were three tough games with Royal Roads, Oak Bay R.F.C. and Victoria University, which encouraged the side to play above themselves.

There were no star players this year, no virtuoso performers to steal the limelight, and this laid much more emphasis on team effort. By the end of the season the forwards, the suspected weakness, were working well together. Wilke guaranteed the ball in the line-out, Seeger virtually ensured it in the set scrums and the back row combination of Brooke, Willis and MacLeod started to give the opposing backs a bad time. Large gaps were still being left in the line-outs and the ball was still slow to emerge from the loose, but at least the forwards were all going hard together. It was their energy that reversed the loss against Shawnigan to a respectable win.

Forwards can compensate for any lack of skill by brute force and enthusiasm. This does not, unfortunately, hold true for the backs. They had little speed as it was, but, when Garrigues was forced to retire at Christmas with an old knee injury and was replaced by Barker, they had even less. By the end of the season, however, they were learning to overcome this handicap by short kicks ahead. They also began to look tidier. Dykes, with his fearless tackling and readiness to fall on the ball, and Graham, with his quiet determination, led the way. The ball was being passed out more smartly and the wings were being brought into the game more frequently. Yet the hard fact still remained that they had no more penetration at the end of the season than at the beginning. This can only come from experience.

Prospects look excellent for next year, with nine of this year's side in Grade XI. The 1966-67 season should see the completion of the good work begun in this one.

The team was composed of Dykes (Captain), Seeger (Vice-Captain), Wilke, Graham, Brooke, Wenman, Hardy I, Nutting I, Leppmann, Filtress, MacLeod, Willis, Bapty, Gallelli and Barker. Additional players were Watkins II, Rosenberry, Harris and Garrigues.

Colours were awarded to Dykes, Seeger, Graham and Wilke.

A. H. A. O.

FIRST FIFTEEN CHARACTERS

SEEGER (Vice-Captain) (hooker) — A first-class hooker, which more than made up for his lack of size. He did much to get the best out of his forwards and took the task of scrum-leader very seriously.

LEPPMANN (prop forward) — A consistent rather than brilliant player, he proved very useful in the set scrums and at times showed that he was a good runner with the ball.

FILTNESS (prop forward) — He had rather a mixed season. At times his lack of fitness slowed him down almost to a stand-still, at others his vast frame, hurtling forward, struck terror into the hearts of the enemy.

WILKE (second-row forward) — He was the outstanding player on the side. A late recruit to the game, he soon used his height and basketball techniques to dominate the line-outs. Always first into the loose, he covered more ground than any other forward, and was one of the few players who could be counted on not to miss a tackle.

NUTTING I (second-row forward) — At first he was a little hesitant to get his head down in the loose, but he developed into a useful performer, often providing a valuable link with the backs.

BROOKE (wing forward) — His experience of a few games with last year's 1st. XV was valuable in settling the pack down. Apart from a hesitant patch in the middle of the season he was a very reliable member of the side.

MacLEOD (wing forward) — A late entrant into the side, he soon showed himself to be an aggressive forward in the "Wilke mode." His main weakness was that of missing some of his tackles through going in too early.

WILLIS (No. 8 forward) — He made some good attacking runs with the ball, but could too often be seen lurking at the back of loose scrums. His tackling was usually sound, and he amply made up with his enthusiasm what he may have lacked in skill.

GRAHAM (scrum half) — A quiet, unassuming player, he carried out a deceptively great amount of work. His defence was sound and his pass-out reliable, and he took all the punishment bequeathed from the poor covering of the forwards without a word of complaint. By his example he did much to give the team its confidence.

DYKES (Captain) (fly half) — A better Captain than player, he gave the team a steady lead throughout the season. His defence was the best of any of the backs and an example to all, and he was the only consistent faller on the ball. He often made many crucial tackles, and only when he tried to attack did he "come unstuck."

HARDY I (centre three-quarter) — A natural ball player (one of the few in the side), he often failed to show the thrust of which he is capable. His short kick-ahead was most effective when he used it, but his defence was at times a little suspect. His place-kicking was alarmingly variable.

BARKER (centre three-quarter) — A very useful addition in the Easter term, he made up for his lack of speed by intelligent kicking and the occasional break — unfortunately a rare sight this season. His tackling, however, was not completely reliable.

BAPTY (wing three-quarter) — A speedy runner, he unfortunately saw little of the ball until the end of the season. He clearly had the potential, but for the most part it remained untapped.

GALLELLI (wing three-quarter) — Although he relied on pushing his opponent into touch rather than tackling him, he was generally reliable in defence and sometimes enterprising in attack.

WENMAN (full back) — He had the natural sense of positioning of the good full back and was a source of comfort to the retreating three-quarters. One alarming tendency of his was to try to beat half the opposing side before making his kick. Often he got away with it.

SECOND FIFTEEN

The 2nd. XV closely resembled the 1st. XV where its fortunes were concerned. The first term saw a row of defeats, while the second found them capturing their form. They were, as usual, heavily handicapped by calls from the senior side.

RESULTS

THIRD FIFTEEN

The 3rd. XV had quite a good season under the capable captaincy of Scott. All home games were won, but both away games were lost.

The side improved steadily throughout the year and showed that it could operate as a team rather than relying upon a few individuals. The three-quarter line was well fed with the ball, and Stubbs showed that he was a penetrating runner when on the attack. The combination of Scott and Clark frequently caused anxiety among the opposing teams as a result of hard running and useful kicking, but much credit for this aspect of the play must go to the scrum, where Houston, Wolfe and Adams in the front row were a good combination. They were ably assisted by Woodcock, Hughes and Fortune elsewhere.

The weaknesses in the team were poor tackling generally (particularly on the part of the centre three-quarters), and slow heeling from the loose scrums. However, special mention must be made of Helm, whose play at full back was good and whose tackling was deadly.

Home games against Brentwood and St. George's were won, away games lost: Shownigan was beaten in two home games. Points for were 65, against 42.

The team was composed of Scott (Captain), Helm, Paul, Russell, Stubbs, Petley-Jones, Clark, Adams, Wolfe II, Houston, Fortune, Douglas, Hughes, Dickens and Woodcock.

FOURTH FIFTEEN

The 4th. XV had a good record this year, losing only one game. They played with commendable spirit and at times showed that they were not lacking in skill. No one player contributed more than the others and the team spirit was noticeable. All members worked hard for their positions, and they had four close, hard-fought games, three of which went in their favour. Maclean II proved himself to be a good leader and is to be congratulated on the keenness of all concerned.

Brentwood, St. George's and Shawnigan were beaten at home, and Brentwood away. The away match against St. George's was lost. Points for were 63, against 18.

The team was composed of Maclean II (Captain), Code I, Watkins I, Wise, Watt, Smith I, Bett, McLean I, de Rosenroll, Fraser, Andrade, Weaver, Maxfield, Harrison and Macdonald.

COLTS FIFTEEN

A light scrum and slowish outsides are seldom conducive to successful rugby, and this season was no exception, all our six games being lost. Stelck, at "hooker," together with Sime and Kelly in the line-out provided more than an average supply of the ball from set pieces, but for some reason the backs preferred running towards touch rather than the try-line. Moreover, lack of weight and experience led to the pack's inability to dominate in the vital department of loose play.

On the credit side, however, this was a young and raw team with plenty of enthusiasm and intelligence. That these are not enough the side has now painfully and fully realized; but they should take heart from their great improvement towards the end of the season, and understand also that they do have the potential to be a good and winning team.

The side was composed of Timmis (Captain), Angus, Walsh, Wilson, Jenkins I, Waldron, Watson, Wilder, Stelck I, Gillespie, Sime, Kelly, Payne, Brock and Strander.

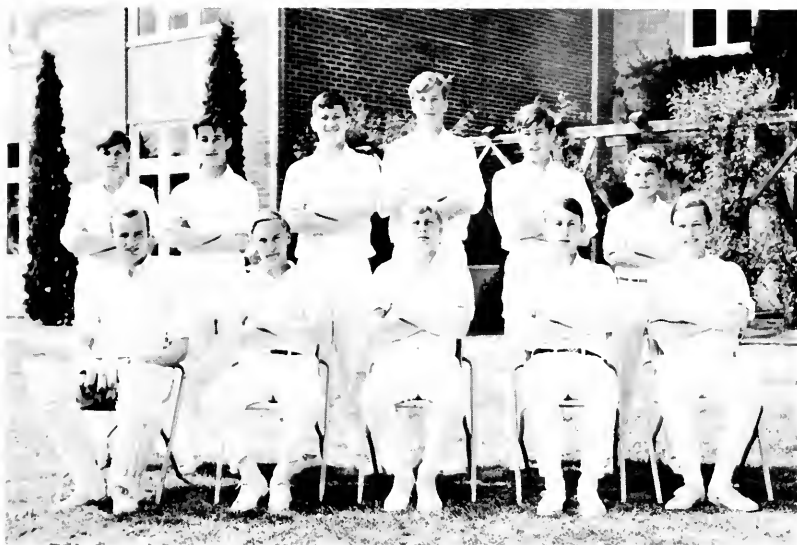

R. A. N.

JUNIOR COLTS

The Junior Colts had a busy and, on the whole, a successful season. They were, however, an extremely light side, and under the rules in force this season, where age, not weight, was the guiding factor, they were always at a great disadvantage. They were defeated twice by Shawnigan and once by Brentwood, while winning once against St. George's and playing to a draw against Brentwood.

Conduit I, the Captain, played spirited football, and most of the backs were promising. The forwards were slow, but were well served by Chapman, Grumbach II and Kyle. As a side their main weakness was in tackling and falling.

CRICKET FIRST XI

Back Row: H. Maxfield, J. Payne, A. Peyton, G. Featherstone, S. Bett, S. Taylor.

CRICKET

In spite of the fact that the Summer term was much longer than usual only five matches were played. Of these, two were won, two lost and one drawn. To our keen disappointment the away match with Shownigan Lake was cancelled.

Much was expected from Barker and Timmis this year, but the unfortunate loss of form of the former and the frequent inability of the latter to turn out seriously weakened the batting and threw too big a load on Wenman. Of the others, Featherstone, Payne and Taylor were distinctly promising.

The bowling was shared by Hardy I (average — 5.4) and Wenman (average — 5.8), with Payne and Bett assisting. The fielding, Wenman excepted, was only average. Wenman was the outstanding Cricketer, and won the bat presented by the University School Incogs. For the second successive year Wenman's XI won the Clayton Cup, and Winslow the Holms Cup for inter-House competition.

The XI was composed of Wenman (Captain), Barker, Hardy I, Timmis, Payne, Featherstone, Taylor, Peyton, Bett, Penn and Maxfield.

Colours were awarded to Hardy I.

RESULTS

SCHOOL v. ALCOS C.C.

The season opened on April 23rd., the School defeating Alcos by 23 runs. Wenman was the only School batsman to look happy, contributing 18 runs before he ran himself out. He also took four wickets, which included a very fine catch off his own bowling, for 16 runs. Hardy took three for 19 and Bett two for one.

SCHOOL v. ST. GEORGE'S SCHOOL

Playing at home in almost constant rain the School defeated St. George's by three wickets. A good innings by Yeomans enabled the visitors to total 66. Hardy took five for 34, and Payne three for 15. The School's reply came almost entirely from Wenman and Taylor. Taylor batted one-and-three-quarter hours for his 22 runs, 20 of which were singles — a very valuable effort. Wenman contributed 27, and when he left there were only 13 runs to make. Taylor and succeeding batsmen, however, made such a labour of hitting them off that it was not until the last over that the winning run was scored. The pitch was soaking wet and batting conditions difficult, but the bowling in the latter stages inspired punishment which it did not receive.

SCHOOL v. SHAWNIGAN LAKE SCHOOL

Batting first, Shawnigan were largely indebted to Creighton, who played well for his 31, and the innings closed for 77. Wenman was by far the best of the School bowlers, his five wickets costing only ten runs. Hardy took four for 38.

For the School to reach 77 it was vital that Wenman should come off. This, unfortunately, he did not do. The others had little reply to bowling which was faster and better than any they had faced this season, and the innings closed for 34, 43 runs behind.

FIRST ELEVEN CHARACTERS

WENMAN (Captain) — A good batsman, with strokes all round the wicket, but he never made the runs his ability suggested. There is still a weakness on the leg stump, and a tentativeness in his defensive forward play. With the ball he maintained a length, while turning slightly from the off. A very fine field, both on the ground and in the air. Enthusiastic in his captaincy, he led the side well.

HARDY I — He had a successful season with the ball, but still lacks the zest and hostility which would make all the difference. A hard hitter, but his defence is not yet good enough. Adequate in the field, but somewhat lacking in concentration.

TIMMIS — With the bat he watches the ball carefully in defence, but he has few attacking strokes, and none on the off. An indifferent field.

BARKER — A run of ill luck rather shook his confidence, and he had an unfortunate season. He has much ability, however, and will yet make runs. Adequate, but lacking in anticipation, in the field.

FEATHERSTONE — An aggressive batsman who uses his reach to drive well. There are runs in store for him when he improves his defence and the tendency to hit across the ball on his leg stump is eradicated. Fair in the field.

PAYNE — He can move the ball in the air and has bowled well on occasion, but his length is uncertain as yet and he tends to overbowl. Quite free with the bat, and drives with power, but is not so happy playing back and in defence generally. Lacks anticipation in the field.

PEYTON — Improved in defence, and when he learns to hit straight he will make runs. Adequate in the field.

PENN — Keen and quite agile behind the stumps for one so tall, he kept wicket creditably. With the bat his methods were agricultural.

BETT — He has come on with the ball, and will take wickets so long as he keeps the ball up to the batsman, bowls to his field and does not mind being hit. With the bat he is not without promise, but is far too lethargic in his approach. Weak in the field.

MAXFIELD — Quite keen, and if he perseveres should be very useful all round.

TAYLOR — Diminutive in stature, and not powerful enough as yet to expect many runs. He is developing a good defence and has already played some useful innings. Active in the field and keen to a degree.

"B" GROUP CRICKET

There has been more enthusiasm shown for Cricket this year than in the past, and the result has been that this group has enjoyed its games and has learned to appreciate the sport a little better. The two matches played were both against Shawnigan and were lost, but the second by only two wickets, in quite an exciting encounter.

N.C.B.C.

JUNIOR CRICKET

The season got off to a good start with two well-earned victories, but, unfortunately, early progress was not maintained.

The bowlers, Roxburgh, Jenkins I, Way and Smith IV, could all bowl a good length and move the ball either in the air or off the pitch. The fielding remained excellent, Lauder, Galbraith and Smiths III and IV being particularly outstanding in a team which made 15 catches and did not drop one. It was the batting, however, which disappointed, for while some, like Kyle and Galbraith, could hit the ball a long way, they did not do so often enough, and those, like Roxburgh and Tunnicliffe, who had the correct technique, either did not have the staying power or ran out of partners before a reasonable total had been reached. But in no way should this prevent special mention being made of Grumbach II, whose quiet efficiency ensured that the team was well-led.

Other features of the season included two 2nd. XI matches, both lost to Shawnigan, Junior House Matches, won by Bolton, and a single-wicket competition, from which Roxburgh eventually emerged victorious.

The teams were chosen from:

(1st. XI) Grumbach II (Captain), Jenkins I, Roxburgh, Galbraith, Way, Kyle, Bavis II, Smith III, Smith IV, Rainsford, Lauder, Tunnicliffe, Tolman and Reeves.

(2nd. XI) Tolman (Captain), Reeves, Herr, Greenwood, Considine, East, Leeming, Jenkins II, Spicer, Bennett, Lokken, Smith V and Conduit II.

TENNIS

A most successful season was enjoyed by the School team this year. In six matches played against school sides we were undefeated, with five wins and one tie. In other fixtures against Oak Bay Tennis and Racquets Club the School was rather overwhelmed by some of the best players in British Columbia, but achieved very creditable individual performances.

The Senior Tournament was won by Watkins II; the Junior by Way.

TENNIS CHARACTERS

HOUSTON (Captain) — Very reliable throughout the season, winning all his singles matches. Baseline and ground strokes were strong, with accurate overhead shots, but he was occasionally weak at the net. His determination, temperament and example as Captain were very good. A very-much-improved player upon last year.

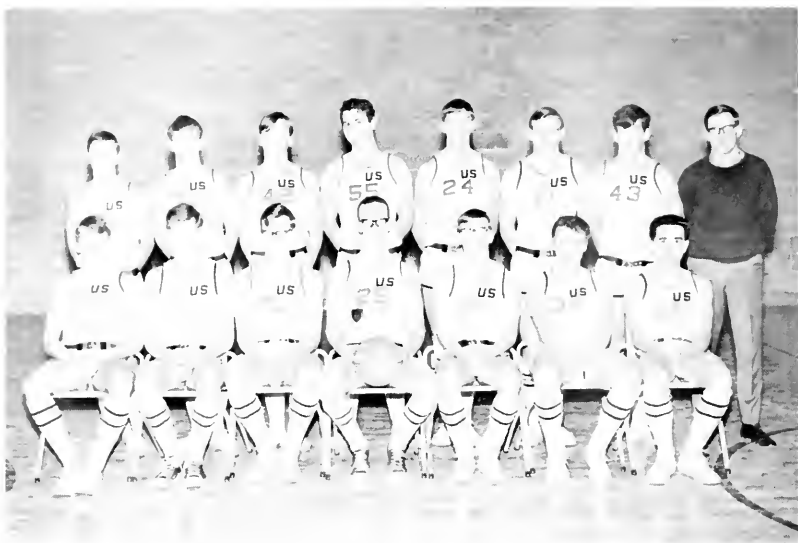

WATKINS II — The School's No. 1 player, he performed very creditably. His singles results were affected by the fact that he found himself, on four occasions, on the opposite side of the net to the Under-16 Canadian Champion, to whom he managed to lose only by 10-12 in one clash. He played very good tennis at all times, being particularly powerful overhead and at the net. Very quick, he made some remarkable recoveries at both net and baseline. A sliced second serve enabled him to command the net, though he had a tendency to be "caught" in mid-court.

BRINKLEY — A good, but occasionally unreliable serve, combined with strong backhand and smash, provided him with most of his wins. A good sportsman, he performed aggressively and with great credit.

WATKINS I — Probably the most-improved player of the year, he gained the majority of his wins by determination, succeeding on two occasions from 3-5 down. His height and reach enabled him to control the net many times when he should have remained on the baseline. He was reliable overhead. A rather weak backhand limited his play, though he won all his singles matches. He showed excellent temperament, even in "tight spots."

Other players who represented the School were GARRIGUES, WOODCOCK, McINTYRE, BARKER and PEYTON.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

In the early part of the season there were many disappointments and morale was low. Defeats at the hands of Brentwood, Claremont and Mount View seemed unjustified since the Open team was basically a good one, with last year's successful under-16 squad and one or two more than able newcomers in the group. But by December the team had produced a winning streak, which was to last for seven games. By the end of February they had finished second in the Outer City League, and second, by one point, to Brentwood in the Independent Schools' Tournament at St. George's. It was unfortunate that, after having beaten Mount View in an exhibition game, they could not repeat the performance in the City Tournament to reach a placing which would give them a try for the Island Championship.

Most of the credit for the year's good results must go to coach B. M. Gould, who unsparingly and enthusiastically accepted the early challenge.

Of the 16 games played, 10 were won and six lost; points for 745, against 666.

The squad was composed of Rosenberry (Captain), Wilke (Vice-Captain), Davis I, Watkins I, Donaldson, Leppmann, Strand, Code II, Watkins II, MacLeod, Dykes, Dickens, Brinkley and Clark.

Colours were awarded to Rosenberry (for the second year in succession), Davis I, Wilke and Donaldson.

In Inter-House Basketball Bolton was first, Barnacle second and Winslow third, and the same order prevailed in the under-16 clash.

J. A.

FIRST STRING CHARACTERS

ROSENBERRY (Captain) (forward) — As a forward he proved that he could shoot from anywhere on the floor, but he developed little defensive initiative.

WILKE (Vice-Captain) (centre) — As a centre he proved to be worth his weight in gold. His ability to out-jump much taller players was one of his greatest assets. He has been an aggressive player, whose defensive prowess, also, on the court and on the boards gave invaluable assistance. His example, where both ability and enthusiasm were concerned, could not be underestimated.

WATKINS I (forward) — A product of last year's under-16 group, who played well in league and exhibition games. Unfortunately his temperament could not cope adequately with the vital stages of tournament play. However, he has tremendous potential, and next year will see in him a balanced player who is aggressive on the backboards and in defensive play.

DAVIS I (Vice-Captain) (guard) — A very hard worker both in offence and defence. His quick reactions many times gave him the chances to steal the ball and drive in for lay-ups. He worked hard to improve his standards, but time and time again his lack of sportsmanship proved detrimental both to himself and to the team.

DONALDSON (guard) — A fine ball-handler who stood out both in offence and defence. His temperament was good, and he could always be relied upon to get the big points when they were most needed. His hard work was an example to all.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

The efforts of this group more than compensated for the lack of enthusiasm in the under-16 section. Ably captained by Goorevitch II, the team won matches against Shownigan, Brentwood, Cliffside and Glenlyon. This bids fair for a sound under-16 group next year.

Many thanks to Leppmann, who coached and encouraged the team so well.

Of the seven games played, six were won and one lost; points for 123, against 67.

The squad was composed of Goorevitch II (Captain), Walsh, McFetridge, Kyle, Lauder, Goorevitch I, Conduit I, Greenwood, Killick and Way.

SWIMMING

Last year Swimming notes were, unfortunately, unavailable. However, the 1964-65 season was a very successful one, one defeat, only, being experienced, at the hands of our excellent friends and rivals, Shawnigan Lake School. A decisive victory was scored over a Y.M.C.A. team, and an exciting Inter-House Competition saw Bolton ultimately victorious. McKnight was the outstanding swimmer on the team and deservedly won the Senior Championship. Prominent, also, were Holm, Stelck and Harris.

In 1965-66 swimming was rather forced into a "back seat" because of other School activities: yet two meetings were arranged. In the first, at Shawnigan Lake, we were well beaten; but in the second, with Belmont High School, we turned the tables and won comfortably. The Inter-House Competition was again won easily by Bolton. Davis I, Stelck I and Stelck II performed very creditably. The Senior Championship was won by Harris and, in the Under-16 events, the high scorer was Chapman.

The results were as follows:

OPEN

Breast Stroke: 1. Stelck I (Wi) (48.0s.); 2. Nutting I (Bo); 3. Wilder (Bo).
Butterfly: 1. Davis I (Bo) (27.1s.); 2. Harris (Bo) and Watkins II (Bo).
Back Stroke: 1. Davis I (Bo) (41.8s.); 2. Stelck I (Wi); 3. Willis (Ba).

SKI-ING

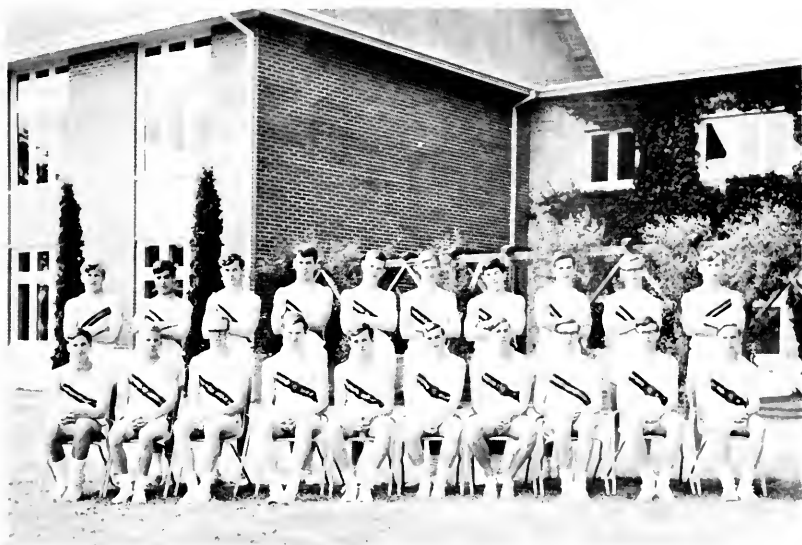

Ski-ing this year was (inevitably) eventful and very successful. Four trips were made to a new ski-ing area — Mount Whistler, in Garibaldi Park about 75 miles north of Vancouver, where conditions were excellent, the powder snow at the summit (6,200 ft.) being particularly good. Very modern accommodation at the Cheakamus Inn was certainly worth the expense. Two other trips were made to Forbidden Plateau and one to Mount Baker.

Two broken skis, two flat tires within the space of a few minutes, with 30 miles of very rough road to go to the nearest garage, illicit entry into a ditch, cleverly disguised as road by large, but soft, piles of new snow — all such caused a little concern; but it was unanimously agreed that the weekends were very enjoyable.

R. F. A.

TRACK AND FIELD

With so many of last year's team no longer at the School, this season has been, in almost every department, one of rebuilding and experimenting. With everything to gain, all members worked hard to achieve a final standard which was to be above our expectations. No longer could we rely merely upon individuals, and this was certainly a year when the true value of the second string was realized.

TRACK AND FIELD

Front Row: B. Paul, J. Graham, J. Rosenberry, K. Wilke, B. Nutting, S. Bapty, J. Garrigues, W. Fowler, G. Gray, R. Barker.

Back Row: C. Leppmann, G. Gallelli, D. MacLean, R. Dickens, D. Dennis, B. Watson, D. Harris, R. Wolfe, W. Davis, E. Hardy.

We began with a one point victory over a strengthened Claremont team. This was encouraging, especially since Bapty beat the School broad jump record with a leap of 21' 6". Victoria High School, as expected, proved too strong for us, but, again, performances like Wilke's 44' 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ " shot put and 43' 8" triple jump were sound pointers for the future. Following this, a strong Brentwood College team was entertained, and the defeat was far from discouraging. The relay team performed well, and Leppmann's 153' 6" javelin throw was pleasing. Esquimalt High School was convincingly beaten in every event, in preparation for the important encounter with Oak Bay High School. By this time the mile relay team was becoming unbeatable, and the performance at Oak Bay, in which the School squad won by 40 yards, was tremendous.

We lost to Oak Bay by three points, but were all set for the Independent Schools' Championship Meeting at Brentwood, the following week. The competition here was keener than it had been for a long time, with three schools all definite contenders for victory. The lead changed hands constantly, and only in the last few events did we succumb to Shawnigan and Brentwood. The most notable School performances were Garrigues' 52.3s. 440 yards effort, Rosenberry's 2m. 7.3s. 880 yards and 4m. 47.3s. mile, Graham's two miles in 11m. 2s. and, again, the mile relay team's win in the excellent time of 3m. 33.8s.

The final meet was for the Leslie-Roberts Trophy, in which we, as usual, teamed up with Oak Bay High School against Shawnigan School and newcomers Victoria High School. It was an afternoon of high quality performances, notably Wilke's 139' 11" discus throw, personal bests for Dickens and Donaldson in the pole vault and wins in both relays. The final result (and the fairest) was a tie.

It was a good season, then, with keen competition and a great deal of fighting. Bapty, as Captain, set a fine example and was well supported by the Vice-Captains, Garrigues and Nutting I. The value of Wilke to the team cannot be over-estimated, especially since he achieved School bests in five different events, including a 5' 9" high jump.

The following represented the School: Bapty (Captain), Garrigues (Vice-Captain), Nutting I (Vice-Captain), Wilke, Rosenberry, Gray, Graham, Fowler I, Paul, Barker, Leppmann, Maclean II, Gallelli, Wolfe II, Dickens, Donaldson, Harris, Dennis, Watson, Hardy I, Smith II and Davis I.

Colours were awarded to Bapty, Garrigues, Nutting I, Wilke and Rosenberry.

JUNE

- 9 Leslie-Roberts Trophy — Oak Bay High School and School v. Victoria High School and Shawnigan Lake School, drawn 102-102.

UNDER 16 TRACK

Although we were placed fourth in the Independent Schools' Championship Meet, there were some outstanding individual performances, notably:

One mile: Code II, 1st. (5m. 3s.), Killick, 2nd. (5m. 8s.)

880 yards: Code II, 2nd. (2m. 18.1s.)

Shot put: Bishop, 1st. (45' 5"), Watkins II, 3rd. (42' 2")

Discus: Watkins II, 1st.

The final result was:

1. Brentwood College, 2. Shawnigan Lake School, 3. St. George's School, 4. School.

SPORTS DAY

This year it was decided to hold more events on the previous Saturday, particularly at the under-14 level. This meant, of course, that some boys had an extremely busy afternoon, but it did not prove to the detriment of their performances.

The outstanding performances were undoubtedly Garrigues' victories in all races from the "100" to the "880," Wilkie's wins in five events, M. J. Smith's six wins in the under-14 group and the Bolton House relay team's successes in three out of its four races.

At no time was the over-all result a foregone conclusion, and it was actually only as a result of the relays that Bolton House eventually edged out a strong Winslow team.

The results were as follows:

Decathlon — Wilke.

In conclusion my sincere thanks go to all members of the staff who have assisted with officiating this year. A special tribute must be made to Mr. James, without whose help the season would not have been possible.

CROSS COUNTRY

Training began early in October, and competition in November. Most of the meets this year were held at Victoria High School, but there was an open competition at Shawnigan Lake School, and we hosted two meets.

The team accounted for itself well, but it was again disappointing that, as in 1965, the School placed only third in the Independent School Championships, held over our own course. But the most encouraging result of that meet was Barker's tremendous run to place first in the senior race. For the first time the Championship was run also at the under-16 level, and individually we again performed well, with Killick second and Code II fifth.

The following represented the School: Graham (Captain), Gray, Barker, Dennis, Wolfe II, Willis, Green, Killick, Rosenberry and Watkins I.

Colours were awarded to Barker and Gray.

SCHOOL CROSS COUNTRY

Barker followed up his success in the "Independent" meet by comfortably taking the School race. The conditions were almost perfect and his time (29m.) was excellent. He was closely followed by Gray until Mount Tolmie, when he pulled away, as his brother had done the previous year.

In the Junior race, as expected, Killick was successful, finishing 2½m. ahead of the rest of the field.

RESULTS

Senior Race: 1. Barker (Ba) (29m.); 2. Gray (Ba); 3. Graham (Bo).
Junior Race: 1. Killick (Ba) (26m. 7s.); 2. Rainsford (Bo); 3. Roxburgh (Bo).

COMBINED HOUSE RESULTS

1. Bolton (1549 points); 2. Winslow (1987); 3. Barnacle (2098).

GYMNASTICS

The Gymnastics Club met every Wednesday in the Fall term. The work covered by the 15 boys was aimed at presenting a display in December. The display was produced on a Friday evening before parents and friends, and formed part of a programme in which the Victoria Y.M.C.A. showed us what near-perfection in vaulting and agility means.

The work in the second term was more specialized and mainly concerned with preparation for the Independent Schools competition. The vaulting and agility pieces were practised in the Gym and the ring and trapeze work was carried out at Victoria Y.M.C.A., under the helpful and enthusiastic guidance of Mr. Gordon Gannon. Although we were placed third in the competition, the improvement on last year was easily noticeable, with individual performances outstanding. Out of 16 competitors, Harris was fourth in the box work, the mat work and the free standing exercises. In the latter he tied with Bapty. The performances of Juniors Way, Smith, Conduit and Taylor were most creditable, and it must be noted that the future of Gymnastics in the School depends on these very keen and promising supporters.

The following represented the School: Harris (Captain), Bapty (Vice-Captain), Watkins II, Smith II, Way, Smith III, Taylor and Conduit I.

Colours were re-awarded to Harris and awarded to Bapty.

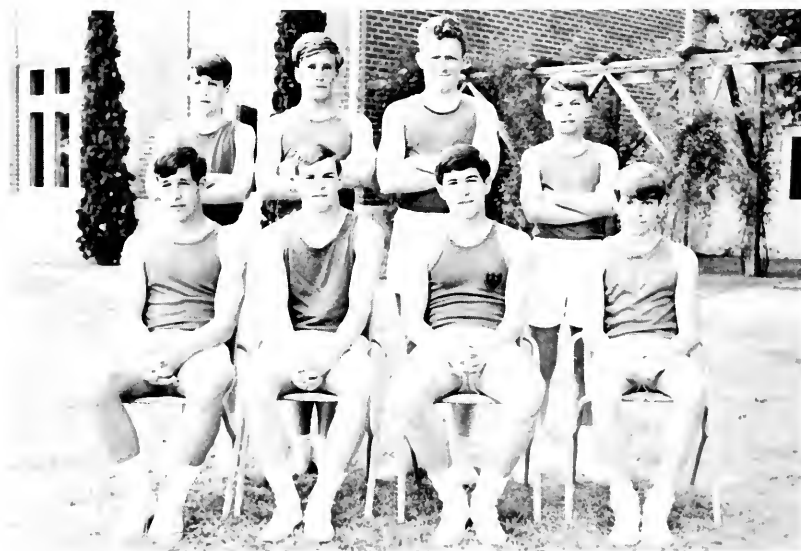

The Independent Schools Meet results were: 1. Shannigan Lake School, 2. St. George's School, 3. School.

The P.T. Display on Corps Inspection Day consisted again of a larger group and a more formal approach. The standard was much higher than the previous year's in all departments.

The Inter-House Display competition took place on the evening before Sports Day and was attended by many parents. The calibre of the Bolton performance was extremely high, and they were worthy winners for the second year in succession.

Inter-House result: 1. Bolton, 204½ points; 2. Barnacle, 174½; 3. Winslow, 169.

THE CORPS

Owing to a smaller enrolment this year the Corps had to be organized on a Company basis, with four Platoons and the Band. No. 1 Platoon took the third-year Cadets, No. 2 the second-year and Nos. 3 and 4 the recruits. As in previous years there was a shortage of experienced personnel from last year's Corps, and, with only one W.O. II and nine Lance-Corporals returning, there were many accelerated promotions. But all Officers and N.C.O.s acquitted themselves very well indeed, making up for lack of knowledge by enthusiasm.

We were now already installed in the new Armouries under the Gymnasium, and thus even greater efficiency in these departments was possible. Moreover, the new Ranges enabled every Cadet to shoot at least once a week for the first two terms. This facilitated our entering a Shooting Team in the D.C.R.A. Competitions, after a year's absence.

Although progress in Drill started slowly, a concentrated programme in the Spring term brought all the elements of training up to standard for Inspection Day, which was again held before Easter. On March 19th. the Corps had the honour to be inspected by Group Captain D. B. Wurtele, c.d., Commandant of the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

The Guard-of-Honour Display, which included some precision marching, was again carried out by a two-division Guard. In addition to the most impressive Gym Display staged by Nos. 3 and 4 Platoons under Mr. Arscott and an improved Band Display, two new Displays were introduced this year — a Weapons Display by the Armouries Staff and a “Silent Drill” Squad, consisting of six Officers and N.C.O.s who carried out five minutes of Arms Drill, both at the halt and on the march, without words of command.

We were unfortunate, this year, in being unable to hold either a Field Day or a Sunset Ceremony; but on May 25th. about half-a-dozen Officers and N.C.O.s were privileged to attend the Dress Rehearsal of the Graduation Parade at Royal Roads, and on June 6th. approximately one half of the School watched the Sunset Ceremony put on by our Parent Regiment, the Canadian Scottish, on the lawns of the Legislative Buildings.

In conclusion, on behalf of all Officers, N.C.O.s and Other Ranks, we must express our appreciation to Lt. Creek and Messrs. Storr and Kayal for their efforts in maintaining a high Corps standard; also to the Matrons, who were always on hand to help with the uniforms.

On Inspection Day No. 1 Platoon (Lt. Penn and Sgt. Fowler) was judged to be “Best Platoon,” closely followed by No. 2. Company Stick Man was Cadet Taylor, who as a recruit did very well to surpass some veterans of three or four years’ experience: but the competition was very keen, and Honourable Mentions are due to Cadets Barker and Avila. Stick Man from the Band was L.-Cpl. Scott.

Master Cadet Stars were gained by Major Green and W.O. II Wolfe. Corps strength was 140, and the Cadet Staff was as follows:

Major J. Green (C.O. & Adjutant)
 Captain M. Seeger (II i/c & Guard Commander)
 W.O. II C. Wolfe (C.S.M.)

Quartermasters Lt. J. Graham
 Sgt. C. Leppmann

GENERAL SALUTE — PRESENT ARMS

SHOOTING

In making an over-all review of this year's shooting activities one must conclude that, generally speaking, they were not successful. As the year progressed student emphasis receded from shooting as a competitive sport to a compulsory activity, and then to a boring routine to be avoided if at all possible.

This attitude is definitely to be changed next year, and shooting is to regain its high position among the School's extra-curricular activities. In addition to the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association Competition the Youth of Empire Competition is to be held. This latter Shoot is an excellent one inasmuch as a minimum of 50% of the cadet Corps must take part.

The few students who did retain genuine interest achieved satisfactory results. Awards were made to the following in the D.C.R.A. Competition: 1. Cadet Petley-Jones (94.66%) (Goldby Trophy), 2. C.S.M. Wolfe (93.6%), 3. Major Green (91.00%).

F. C. S.

THE BAND

Despite a slow beginning the Band produced a very excellent standard of performance on Inspection Day and other parades. We were hampered at the start by lack of recruits and had to have twelve newcomers to fill the vacant ranks. Only by hard work and concentration did these perform so well on Inspection Day, and they deserve a great deal of credit. Previous standards were certainly upheld, and the new addition to the Band Display was a distinct success.

It remains for me to wish next year's Band the best of luck. May you set even higher standards for future Bands to maintain!

Colin A. M. Dykes, W.O. II (Band Commander).

FIRST AID

This year, as usual, the new recruits in the Corps had to take the St. John Ambulance First Aid Course.

Owing to the fact that Cadet Parades must finish before the Summer term, First Aid was forced to "take a back seat," and had to fight to gain time to complete the course. This was split, half being administered in the Fall term and half in the Summer, taking priority over games on Friday afternoons. The lectures were given by Lts. Harris and Bapty. The practical test was held by Dr. Spicer, on Tuesdays, June 7th. and 14th., and the written exam. on Wednesday, June 8th.

Fifty-one cadets sat, and it is hoped that we have maintained last year's high standard.

Stephen L. Bapty, Lieutenant (i/c First Aid)

PROJECTION CLUB

With a little trouble and a few repairs at the beginning of the year, projector and crew have had quite a successful session. We hope that the School has enjoyed our selection of films.

For the first time we have kept a log of hours during which the machine has been run: we have found this a great asset and we hope that it will be continued.

Projectionists were nearly all new this year: they included Macdonald, Skuba, Scott, Harris, Davis and Rosenberry.

Our thanks go especially to Mr. Hinton Jnr., for all his help.

Charles A. Hughes, President

ART

The function of Art in the class room is not always that which people imagine. One does not teach an individual to become an artist. Most children at an early age have the natural ability and the desire to create. Often this is overlooked by parents who are unwilling to allow their child to "make a mess." Yet this "mess" is something very real and exciting to the child.

As the child grows older and becomes more aware of himself his painting becomes more self-conscious. His natural simplicity and spontaneity are apt to dwindle. The patter of normal school work — questions with definite answers, a tidy "copy-book," exams., etc. — combats creative liberty in the Art Room. Before an Art teacher can impart the techniques of drawing and painting, he must attempt to stimulate and recapture the uninhibited creative spark. When the pupil fully realizes the meaning of Art, he will be ready to learn techniques and apply them in honest personal expression.

In this way the function of the Art Room can contribute to the development of personality.

Thus, our methods during the past school year have included "exposure" to art objects of all kinds, inspection of original paintings, visits to art galleries, the viewing of colour slides of paintings through the ages and access to current art magazines. Work carried out in the Art Room has been through the media of pen and ink, painting (for the pleasure of applying paint to paper, with no particular technique involved), collage and print-making (very simple techniques employed).

In their final exams, Grades IX to XI wrote their opinions on paintings of their choice. This revealed to me their awareness of art forms. It also gave boys who were unable to express themselves in paint the opportunity to express themselves in words. Although we have produced no very startling results, it is obvious that many boys have been awakened to artistic appreciation, and will be more receptive to art forms in the future. Too many had preconceived ideas: perhaps now they will think and respond.

THE LIBRARY

Thanks to the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Barker of Vancouver, the School now has its new library, located on the north side of School House, housed over the recent addition and built at a cost of $50,000.

This splendid room, well-lighted and with a large study area and extensive reference and magazine sections, was constructed for a capacity of 8,000 volumes. We have approximately 3,500 at present, and an urgent appeal goes to Old Boys and others to help fill the many shelves with texts of high quality. More than 750 items were added during the past school year, the gift mainly of the Ladies Auxiliary and Parents of current students. Where a library is concerned, atmosphere is all, of course, and the quiet, dignified and luxurious surroundings that we can now enjoy have already done much to stimulate spare-time study and research.

Organization is, naturally, not yet complete, but in the initial stages is a new classification system which will ultimately see all volumes catalogued under the Library of Congress system. This will facilitate the finding of books and will provide a convenient cross-reference service. The Student-Librarians have worked well and capably under the direction of Donald Harris, and we all look forward to an ever-increasing efficiency in 1966-67.

The Barker Library was officially opened on Speech Day, June 4th., by Dr. J. F. K. English, formerly Deputy Minister of Education and Chairman of the Public Utilities Commission. To the Barker family no tribute could be adequate: it will suffice, perhaps, to quote here the wording of the commemorative plaque which can be seen just inside the impressive entry to the Library itself —

BARNACLE HOUSE

Although the House has not been so dominant on the playing field as in past years. I think that we have given of our best. Our performances in the various sports activities were very creditable and spirited. We were the smallest House and, in view of our numbers, gave a very good account of ourselves.

The House year generally was satisfactory and enjoyable. Members showed spirit and were very enthusiastic in all their undertakings.

On behalf of the House I must thank Mr. Kayal for his never-failing help, advice and understanding. I would also like to extend the best of wishes to those returning and express the hope that next year's members will maintain our standards and traditions.

Colin A. M. Dykes, Captain of House.

BOLTON HOUSE

In September it was difficult to look ahead without feeling pessimistic concerning a House which consisted largely of a number of new boys. The year turned out to be an excellent one, however, in the course of which we won all Inter-House competitions with the exception of Cricket, which was lost to a powerful Winslow team.

In Rugby the competition was changed this year to seven-a-side events, and the combined efforts of our "A" and "B" teams put us on top with a good over-all victory. On Sports Day we recaptured the Inter-House Trophy.

We may say that the House generally had almost a sensational sporting year. Spirit and enthusiasm came in waves, but carried us through to a successful conclusion.

We owe much thanks to our Housemaster, Mr. James, who helped us maintain reasonable standards in all aspects of school life.

Finally, on behalf of the graduating class may I wish good luck to those who are returning, in the hope that they will carry on the traditions both of House and of School as a whole.

John R. Graham, Captain of House.

WINSLOW HOUSE

Now in the third year of its foundation, Winslow has played a vital part in all school functions. Academically the House has always been sound: this year we have surpassed our previous record. Of the University Entrance candidates 15 entered from the House and 15 passed. The leading Winslow Mathematician informs us that this is somewhere in the neighbourhood of 100%.

Members of the House have participated with enthusiasm in all branches of sport, and have had many victories. For instance, on Sports Day we were only just edged out of first place by Bolton, success or failure hinging on the last Relay. The Day Boys, again, put their backs into the Corps, and did much to make Inspection Day the success that it was.

A great deal of thanks must be paid to Mr. Wenman, without whose guidance and inspiring spirit we could never have achieved our successes.

Amongst those returning there is already, as I know, an element of Leadership — also a strong House spirit. These have been prevalent throughout the past year, and I am sure that, once again, members will bind together to form a strong front in every facet of school life.

The Best of Luck to all “Returners” and “Recruits,” and we sincerely hope that you will do as much for House and School as has been done in the past.

Christopher N. Wolfe, Captain of House.

HARVEY HOUSE

Mr. Arscott became Housemaster for the 1965-66 year. We were also very lucky to enlist the services of Mr. Niven, now on his way to Oxford University, who organized and encouraged Cricket and Rugby events. The four Prefects, Fowler I, Code II, Brooke and Leppmann, carried out their tasks efficiently, and the year generally went very smoothly, with only one or two minor disturbances.

Our numbers were smaller than last year as many boys had moved over to School House, but a full programme of “Competitions” was carried through. Most of the prizes were taken by “Cook”, which claimed the Inter-Dorm. Indoor Soccer, Volleyball and Basketball. Bolton won the Harvey Inter-House Rugby. Killick became Junior Cross-Country Champion and Way won the Under-16 Tennis Tournament. In the Swimming Sports Stelck II showed considerable ability, winning all his events.

Rainsford was a most worthy recipient of the Chapman Cup.

In Inter-School events Harvey acquitted itself well, particularly on the Rugby Field. Under the Captaincy of Conduit I the Junior Colts produced a very good record.

R. A.

LADIES AUXILIARY

The Ladies Auxiliary to University School were successful in raising the sum of $150.00, proceeds from a Spring Rummage Sale, membership fees and other fund-raising schemes. $50.00 was donated towards the Progress Award on Speech Day and $100.00 to the new Barker Library. Of the latter, $70.00 was spent on the purchase of books from the School of Music Sale and the balance will be utilized for library purposes generally.

At Christmas the Carol Service was preceded by a Tea given by Mrs. Timmis, and parents had an opportunity of meeting the Staff and other parents. This was a successful and much-appreciated occasion.

Mrs. Houston, President, Mrs. Helm, Treasurer, and Mrs. Considine, Secretary, served on the Committee, and our thanks go to them for the time and the tremendous effort that they have so generously given.

Attendances at meetings have been somewhat on the small side, and it is felt, regrettably, that next year we should consider only one meeting — a Tea or Coffee Party — whereby parents may meet each other at the beginning of the school year and an all-out effort be made to organize the next Rummage Sale.

OLD BOYS' NOTES

CHAPMAN (1955-62) — David has obtained his Bachelor of Business Degree from the University of Washington, and leaves shortly for the Bahamas. He is to join the Staff of a large hotel in order to gain practical experience, which, he assures us, will not be entirely assimilated on the beach.

CHEEKE (1950-53) — David has received his Ph.D. in Physics from the University of Nottingham, and is now in his post-doctoral year at Grenoble, France.

FIBIGER (1957-60) — Chris has accepted a post as teaching assistant at Princeton University, where he will begin his graduate studies in Psychology. He obtained his B.Sc. at the University of Victoria.

GERRY (1953-56) — Michael has received his Ph.D. in Physical Chemistry at Cambridge University, and is now attending Duke University, North Carolina, on a post-doctoral Fellowship, doing microwave spectroscopic research. He hopes to return to Canada in a year or two, and to teach.

GOWARD (1957-60) — Bernard, who has his B.A. from the University of Victoria, has now completed one year at the University of Toronto, and obtained his Teaching Certificate. He has accepted a post in Oshawa, Ontario, for September, and plans to teach in Ontario for at least two years.

LUND (1954-59) — Peter writes from Rhodesia, where he is a Lieutenant in the Rhodesia African Rifles. He left the Canadian Army in 1962 and joined the British South African Police, in which he served until 1965, when he was commissioned in the Rhodesian Army. We gather that Peter finds things very interesting at the moment, and that life is replete with incident.

MOILLIET (1941-47) — David has recently been appointed Manager of the Canadian Government's Travel Bureau in San Francisco. Prior to this appointment he was Assistant Chief of the Bureau's Publicity Division in Ottawa.

WILLIAMS (1952-55) — Congratulations to David Williams, who has recently been awarded his Bachelor of Library Science Degree at U.B.C.

MARRIAGES

CHAMBERS (1952-56) — B. Chambers to Wendy Rona LeMare, at Quamichan, Vancouver Island, B.C., on May 7th., 1966.

“TEMPORA MUTANTUR SED NOS RESTAMUS IN ILLIS”

The Black and Red purports to be no more than a dignified and reasonably literate record of the past school year. Only, perhaps, in the Editorial do we permit ourselves to “take our hair down,” and we are conscious that even here parody may well pass the bounds of propriety. We can imagine that, as a result of this year’s perpetration, Austin Dobson has been gently revolving in his grave.

It is unfortunate that costs of publication, already astronomical, soon to be nuclear, prevent us from launching out whither we would. For instance, it has not been feasible, for some time, to consider “original” contributions.

But it must not be presumed that Other Ranks at University School are without creative ability. For some years they have been surprisingly fertile in this respect, largely, it must be admitted, when free from the trammels of the Class Room. At times it has mystified this writer to find a “Classic” whose efforts to translate Virgil have been halting and jejune to a degree producing adolescent literature of an impressive order from the spare-time seclusion of the Library (solemn and disconcerting thought — can this writer be an “Inspirational Teacher”?).

Some readers will remember past editions of the Wedge and Taviv (productions displaying quite high qualities of originality and technique), one of which flowered in at least four languages. More will have seen the Sports Day number of Le Potpourri — attractively turned-out, not without verse and carrying clever cartoons of a satisfactory scurrility. These efforts have been sparked mainly by House-masters, but written, pruned, polished and printed internally by committees of boys.

It is a great pity that circulation cannot be more widespread. Thus, any “outside” reader who would wish to receive a copy of the next publication of this kind in the coming school year is invited to write to:

The Assistant Editor,
The Black and Red,
University School,
Victoria, B.C.

He will act as humble go-between and ensure that a copy is booked and forwarded.

It may be necessary to impose a small charge, but we believe that hitherto no more than the sum of ten cents has ever been demanded!

—Ed.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We regret that it was not feasible, last year, to complete all the requisite "Exchanges" from our end. The situation will be corrected, this year, with our current issue.

Once again, we thank all Editors who have sent us copies of their attractive publications, and convey to them our Best Wishes.

—Ed.

NOTE

Old Boys who graduated on the English side will have recognized, immediately, that the Editorial consists of Triolets. They will be relieved to hear that no more will appear in the issues of this century.
